A Coder's Review- Evaluation and Management is a self-paced coding publication designed to teach basic Evaluation and Management coding. It is also a nice review for those coders already working with E/M coding. You do not need any coding books to take this course. All materials needed are in the course material. It consists of a 27-page course and 60-question exam with answers in a multiple-choice format. After you pass the exam and with at least a 70%, you will receive the AAPC approved certificate. You have until Dec. 31, 2008 to complete this course. This course is listed under “A Coder's Review” on the AAPC Vendor list.
